VW 09G & 09K Cooler Elements.

Following a recent article in Transmission Digest Magazine® highlighting the failure of transmissions due to re-fitting VW cooler elements after transmission rebuild we are please to announce the availability of new OE cooler elements for both the 09G and the 09K.

The internals of these elements is a honeycomb type design much like the troublesome AG4 unit. As a result debris left by transmission failure these complex channels become contaminated and blocked.

Unlike other transmission coolers these units are almost impossible to flush effectively leaving harmful debris that over time become dislodged entering the valve body and lubrication circuits resulting in premature failure and an expensive comeback.
